Humour
Thought I’d start with an accountant joke:

How do you know your accountant is an extrovert?
He stares at YOUR shoes when he’s talking to you.

Guest Speaker - Peter Marshall  SES

We were very fortunate to have Peter Marshall give a presentation on the work that The Victoria State Emergency Service (SES) does to ensure the safety of the community. It is a volunteer organisation with some 5,500 members, dedicated to helping Victorian communities during storms, floods, earthquakes and other emergencies, including tsunamis.

SES crews are trained to rescue people who are trapped or injured, carry out emergency repairs and aid other emergency service providers such as Police, Ambulance and Fire Brigade. Other emergency service providers work closely with SES during major emergencies.

Peter distributed to each of us an Emergency Tool Kit, a Home Emergency Plan booklet, a pen and “stress relief” helmet. The last two items displayed the Flood, Storm, Emergency phone number, 132 500. In addition there was an Activity Book to help educate children.

Members showed great interest and asked a number of questions including whether Unions were involved. Peter answered no, and assured us he was not that Peter Marshall.

Thank you Peter for an excellent and informative address.

Help from above? Brother Harry wins the raffle and hits the jackpot by drawing “The Joker”.
